TRADE MISSION

THE Hongkong Trade Mis-I sion to Australia seems to have got off to a good start judging by the re-marks made by the Deputy Prime Minister, Mr Mc-Ewan.

The trade balance is currently running in Australia's favour. but according to reports the picture is expected to change rapidly within the next 12 months.

If this forecast becomes a reality then the Colony can look forward to a big increase in exports to Australia.

Mr McEwan said that "the growing awareness in Asian countries that Australin is a valuable market for their goods and that also Australia can offer a wide variety of high quality primary and manufactured goods is one of the brightest signs on the horizon in the Southern Hemisphere, and in Asia."

This is most heartening news, particularly as it comes from a responsible official who is also Minister for Trade.

TRADE with Australia has long been neglected and She will also open the new the decision to appoint a Hongkong trade representative in Sydney some time ago was a sound idea.

The representative is now undoubtedly in an excellent position to advise the current mission from the knowledge he has gained on the spot.

Perhaps it is time that the Colony explored the possibilities of appointing more representatives in other parts of the world.

Hongkong must also advertise its wares like other countries and not sit back and continually hope that orders will roll in without spending money.

Times have changed and are changing throughout the world. Competition is getting tougher and opposition to Hongkong is not diminishing.

We must get out and sell ourselves or perish through our own indolence.

BLUE STREAK

WIDESPREAD LOSSES

London, July 17. Stores and property stocks were the hardest hit among industrial stocks which declined today resulting in losses of millions of pounds from market values.

Fears that the government's economic axe will hit the market one week from tomorrow dominated the depressed market and a faint attempt to rally fizzled out

Equities in every sector plummeted and only a couple of special situations went against

Bright spots were "foreigners" like Philips Lamps and Dutch Unilever which made the plus British Motor Corp. managed to hold steady but the bulk of blue chips plunged. Falls up to ! two shillings were commonplace after stepped up selling. Bargain hunters were holding off while the Government's "medicine" for the economy was unknown, although many financiai commentators judge the fall in top quality counters already was overdone. GILT-EDGED

Gilt-edged stendied at first helped by a firmer pound but talk of a bank rate increase unsettled the bonds and they slipped by £3/8ths for shortdated issues.

Greek and Japanese bonds hardened in foreign bonds. Dollar stocks gave a mixed performance but gains finally took the upper hand, Shell the standout up two points. In mines coppers went ahead

UK retail trade loses buoyancy

Retail trade in Britain lost some of its recent buoyancy in June compared with the high level of the preceding three months, a provisional estimate from the Board of Trade showed today.

After allowing for seasonal factors, the index of the value of total was probably between 113 and 114 compared with 115 in each of the previous 25 2520 500 6 2520 three months. In January and 3000 (a 13.30 February the adjusted index 3000 (cf 13.40 was 112.

> Board said it seemed there was some easing from the earlier high level, "but too much should not be read into the figures for an individual month."

FOOD STORES

Less active trading by food stores seems to have caused much of the decrease in June, Board officials said.

For the second quarter as a whole the index was estimated at 114, against 113 in the first quarter and 112 in the final three months of 1960. The base was 1957 equals 100.

"Increases in prices more than accounted for the increase in the value of sales on one year earlier in June," the Board said.—UPI.

U.S. INTELLIGENCE CHIEF SEEN LIKELY TO RETIRE

The Duke and Duchess of Kent, back from their honeymoon in Majorca, are welcomed home by the villagers of Iver. Buckinghamshire on July 10. In a village field, on behalf of the village, Major Jack Blaning presents them with: an address of welcome framed in red, white and blue, three volumes of "Water Fowl of the World" and a promise of a cheque to be handed over later so that the couple may "choose something for themselves." The Duke said: "We are both very grateful and delighted to be home again." Then he walked around the field, near the Kent's home, "Coppins", introducing the Duchess to the villagers.-London Express Service.

Indicated intention last year

Washington, July 17.
Administration sources suid today that Allen Dulles, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, plans to retire towards the end of this year.

They were commenting on reports of a reshuffle in Preident Kennedy's Administra-tion involving Mr Dulles and the Under-Secretary of State, Chester Bowles.

LAST NOVEMBER

indicated his intention to retire last November when President Kennedy asked him to remain at the head of the C.I.A.

He had indicated to Mr Kennedy that he hoped to retire in about a year, the sources said.

Mr. Dulles aroused controversy over the part the agency played in the attempt by Cuban refugees to invade Cuba in April.

Speculation that Mr Dulles would be replaced has been recurrent.-Reuter.

White House spokesman Pierre Salinger indicated that Dulles "might be ready to resign shortly," AFP reports. So for as was known, said Salinger, Dulles had no intention of changing his plans.

It calls to my mind a talk I had with Ribbentrop when he was German Ambassador to London in the tragic months before the war. At the climax of our conversation he uttered a tiradewhich ended with the words: "What holds your Empire together? Moonbeams, nothing but A United Western Europe moonbeams!"

To which I made the reply: Your Excellency, chains can be broken but when, you cut a moonbeam what have you cut? It is still there."

He flushed angrily and then said that his next appointment was at hand and he must ask me to go. Long afterwards in the passing of the fateful years of war I saw him sentenced to death at Nuremberg. o Hairdresser Michel at work in his salon in Kowloon. He is putting the finishing touches to a style he has created for one of his clients.

MAN'S view that grey hair is one of the most beautiful creations given by Nature to women, has been expressed by a Hongkong hairdresser.

Of all the chemical colourings and herbal aids of the commercial beauty world there is nothing to equal the natural hair blending and changing to the pigmentation of the skin, Mr Y. Michel

In the richness of its variations and adaptations, Nature provides the most becoming hair lones when a woman's face begins to need another frame. Grey hair is very soft and very flattering.

Just as the autumn tints are among the most exquisite colours of the year's kaleidoscope, so in the autumn of her life a woman may receive the most attractive colouring of all to accent more muture beauty.

A perfect foil for so many colours, grey hair permits a wardrobe of a wider range of shades. Pastel shades and dramatic contrasts can be equally effective.

Fresher

Children have a particularly soft spot for the gentleness that goes, or should go, with grey and sliver locks. They appreciate the grandmother who can ... look fresher and gayer with grey hair than their hennaed and dyed contemporaries.

Other age groups also are easily impressed with people ageing gracefully and willing to share their valued experience with gentle and sympathetic

Men also can benefit greatly by grey hair. Mr Michel pointed out that in order to look distinguished, an actor will choose a grey wig, or use greying makeup at the temples, rather than wear a blonde or black

Open Bowls NEW ZEALANDERS BREAK

The world record for the four by one mile, relay race held by Hungary since 1939 was broken at Dublin's Santry Stadium tonight by the New Zealand team led by Olympic champion Peter Snell,

The New Zealanders' time was'16 minutes 23.8 seconds as against the Hungarians' time of 16 minutes 25.2 seconds. Britain was second in 16 minutes 24.8 seconds which also bettered the liungarians' record lime.

With Snell were Murray Halberg, Barry Magee and Carry Philpott. Britain's team were Stan Taylor, N. Ar Trson, A. Simpson, and Bryan Hall, Snell, running last leg, had to make up at least 15 yards but, running beautifully, he avercame the Englishman Simpson to pass him ten yards from the winning post.

It was apparent that the record was going to be broken; for, at three and a half miles the time stood at 14 minutes 23 seconds. At three and threequarter miles the time stood at 15 minutes 36 seconds and it was obvious to the 10,000 crowd that Snell's bursting finish would help set up the new

punches—and Dempsey floored the champion

It was a boyhood dream come true for Jack Dempsey, the ex-tramp whose rise to boxing fame had been tough and rough. He was in the ring with the giant Jesse Willard for the heavyweight championship of the world. And the crowd went wild as his terrible punches ripped in . . .

It was 103 in the shade. In the oven-hot arena a vast shirt-sleeved multitude fidgeted and fanned themselves as the sun poured down from a shimmering white sky. Suddenly a mounting murmur—a hornet's hum of excited voices—buzzed in the drowsy air.

Two men were approaching the ring, baking in the afternoon heat of that high summer's day in Ohio. The first—the challenger—had venomous screwed-up slits of eyes, jet-black hair, and the high, square cheekbones of his Cherokee ancestors.

Although he weighed a laughable 12st, 12 lb. for a heavy- I I weight, there was an air of smouldering menace about him as he glided down the aisle with the padding, pigeon-toed gait of the Red Indian.

Dempsey, however, simply sat taut and secwling on his stool, Beetle-browed, unshaven, keyed up to screaming point by th slow-drip torture of waiting, the Mauler from Manassa cared for what Willard nothing thought or did.

For this was his make-orbreak chance—the fight he had dreamed of since childhood. This was the fight he had prayed for, slaved for, starved for, suffered for, ached for, and gone through the very gates of hell for.

Appreciation

Congratulations for a story most interesting, written in a style which is very rare these days — I think this is one of the best articles your paper has produced this year. refer of course to the story.

"Pirates of the China Seas," by Don Carlos. I hope the editors of Readers' Digest will notice it.

One of the most impressive trails is the way the author ends the article; an obviously mature writer pays tribute to his father. His expression, "whose shadow will always be larger than mine," is another way of saying, "Honour Thy Father and Thy Mother." Very rare has this sentiment become in this age of jet air-craft and "sputniks."

Even if we don't own a car, and therefore do not have a parking problem, the great increase of vehicular movement has certainly increased the chances that we might get knocked down by someone

The chances are remote, but road accidents are an everyday occurrence in most countries, and Hongkong is no exception. So the problem of controlling traffic is one of the biggest headaches of our policemen, as Mr K. A. Bidmead, the Commissioner of Police, will tell you

THE following advice to women tennis players appeared in the "World for Women Section":

Tennis players of the fair sex in Hongkong would do well to follow the styles worn

Some of the most peculiar rig-outs are worn on our local courts. Take a few tips from good players who never forget how much confidence as well as ease of movement can be gained by dressing

This year there are two main divisions in styles for tennis-the short suit and the shirt frock.

There are some variations in fabric, some in colour, some in footwear, and some in the sweaters and coats that are so necessary before, after and between sets. On the whole, however, the best tennis kit is a summary of all that has been learned during the past few experimental years.

This summary includes complete leg, shoulder and arm freedom, the elimination of non-essentials and the maximum of grace.

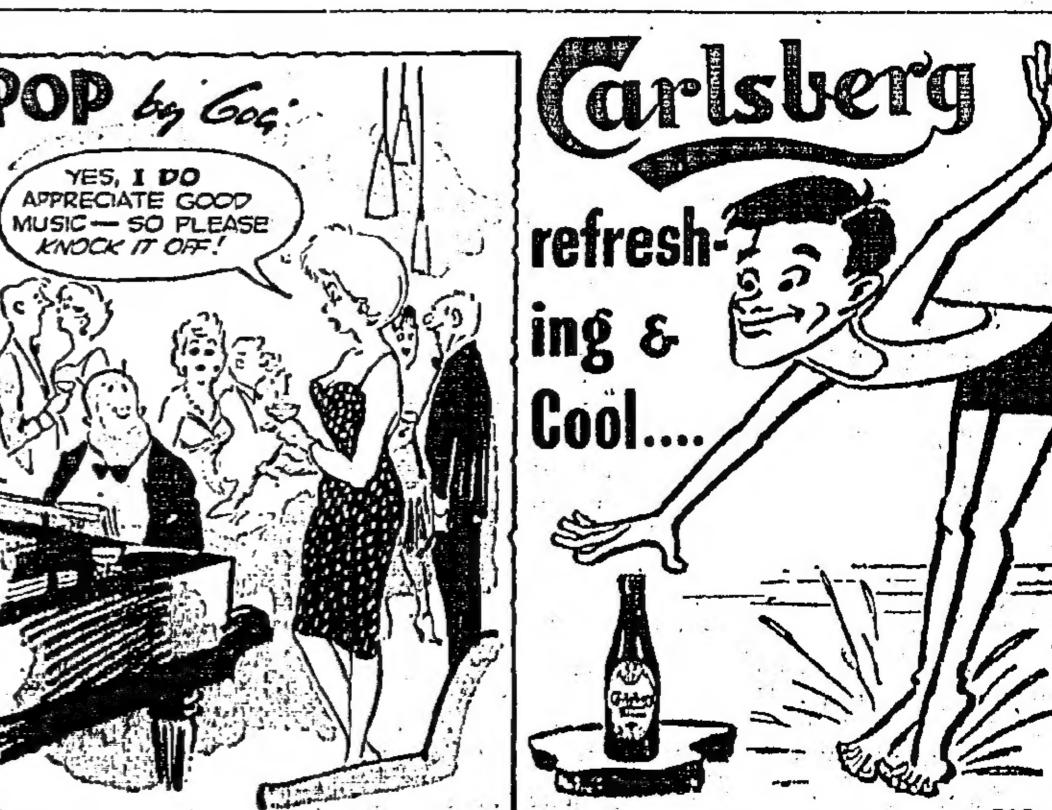

Buckskin is still the fabric for hard wearing shoes and good service . . . there are tennis shoes in canvas and heavy linen too.

Some people like bandings in colour, but the really good all-white buckskin tennis shoe remains a friend whose faithfulness and good looks fully justify
